ALMA MATER

The words of "Hark the Sound," UNC–Chapel Hill's alma mater, were written in 1897 by William Starr Myers, a graduating senior. The Glee Club director asked Myers to put words to the tune "Amici," and the song was first performed on June 2, 1897, as part of the Glee Club's Commencement performance in Gerrard Hall.

Soon the song was almost forgotten. When a University quartet tried a few years later to remember the words, they could recollect only the first verse and the chorus of Myers' original version. Two members of the quartet, Charles S. Mangum and Charles T. Woollen, added two verses to the one they remembered. Mangum later became a professor in the School of Medicine, and Woollen worked as the University's business manager and comptroller.

HARK THE SOUND

Hark, the sound of Tar Heel voices
Ringing clear and true,
Singing Carolina's praises,
Shouting N.C.U.!

Hail to the brightest star of all!
Clear its radiance shine!
Carolina, priceless gem,
Receive all praises thine.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

The Doctoral Hooding ceremony in the Dean Smith Center on Saturday and the main Commencement ceremony in Kenan Stadium on Sunday will be captioned on the video screens.

This Commencement program is printed prior to administering final examinations. Therefore, including degree candidates' names in this program does not represent certification that candidates have satisfactorily completed degree requirements. Diplomas for undergraduate, master of science and master of arts degrees will be printed after Commencement and mailed to graduates. Graduates with professional, doctoral and master's degrees that contain an area of study in the degree, such as Master of Accounting, may receive their diplomas in a special departmental or school ceremony. Or, they may pick up a diploma from the Office of the Registrar in the Student and Academic Services Building from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Commencement Sunday. Remaining diplomas will be available in the Registrar's Office through May 31, after which time they will be mailed to each graduate's home address as listed in ConnectCarolina.

HOLDEN THORP
Chancellor

At Carolina, Holden Thorp has been an undergraduate student, a chemistry professor, a planetarium director, an inventor and entrepreneur, as well as a dean. He graduated with honors, won teaching awards, chaired a powerhouse chemistry department, developed technology for electronic DNA chips, founded spin-off companies and succeeded as an administrator.

As the 10th chancellor, Thorp draws from those experiences in leading Carolina, one of the world's great research universities.

A North Carolina native, Thorp grew up in Fayetteville in a family steeped in UNC traditions dating to the 1800s. When he graduated from Terry Sanford High School, only one college was on his application list — Carolina, where he earned a bachelor of science degree with honors in 1986.

Attending a world-class research university — where research and teaching are done by the same people — allowed Thorp to work in chemistry labs with top faculty and inspired him to become a professor. He pursued that dream at the California Institute of Technology, where he earned a doctorate in chemistry in 1989, and at Yale University for postgraduate work. After teaching a year at NC State, he returned in 1993 to UNC, where he was dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and chair of the chemistry department before becoming chancellor in 2008.

Because he has lived it from both sides of the classroom, Thorp is passionate about the undergraduate experience. "Carolina is perfectly suited to leverage our students' interests in the great problems facing our world to enhance their academic success," he says.

The University's future depends on aspiring to global academic excellence and serving the needs of North Carolina's students and people. "We're the university of both-and: Both academic prominence and a commitment to our state," Thorp says.

Under Thorp, Carolina seeks to raise $125 million in private gifts to implement "Innovate@Carolina: Important Ideas for a Better World," a roadmap developed by alumni and friends experienced in leading innovation in science, business, medicine, nonprofits and academia. One result is UNC's role in a consortium created by a $3.6 million gift from the Blackstone Charitable Foundation to help the Research Triangle develop a network of entrepreneurial assistance similar to those in Silicon Valley and the Boston Corridor. Partners include Duke, NC State, NC Central and the Center for Entrepreneurial Development. The network has the potential over a decade to create jobs, attract seed, startup and expansion capital, and generate revenue.

Thorp is a member of President Obama's National Advisory Council on Innovation and Entrepreneurship. As a result, the University hosted the council's first national forum in Chapel Hill. Thorp co-authored "Engines of Innovation — The Entrepreneurial University in the 21st Century," a UNC Press book that makes the case for the pivotal role of research universities as agents of societal change.

Royalties support innovation at UNC.

Thorp serves on the U.S. Manufacturing Competitiveness Initiative for the Council on Competitiveness. He has published 130 scholarly articles on the electronic properties of DNA and RNA and co-founded Viamet Pharmaceutials in Morrisville, which is developing drugs for fungal infections and prostate cancer.

The chancellor also is a member of a national Commission on Higher Education Attainment, which was created by the six presidentially based higher education associations to chart a course for greatly improving college retention and attainment and, in turn, restore the nation's higher education preeminence.

An accomplished musician who plays jazz bass and keyboard, Thorp is married to Patti Worden Thorp, a Hope Mills native and UNC Greensboro graduate. Their children are John and Emma.

THE DOCTORAL HOODING SPEAKER

Marc Levoy

MARC LEVOY is the VMware Founders professor of computer science at Stanford University, with a joint appointment in Stanford's electrical engineering department. His career achievements include developing the cartoon animation system used in "The Flintstones" TV show and launching Google's Street View project. Levoy is currently on a two-year, part-time leave of absence to work on another project for Google.

Levoy, who is also known for helping to create the field of computational photography, received his doctoral degree in computer science from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1989. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees in architecture from Cornell University. His master's thesis focused on computer-assisted cartoon animation — research he applied later as senior scientist and director of Hanna-Barbera Productions' computer animation department.

He began his UNC doctoral studies in computer science, in the College of Arts and Sciences, in 1984, focusing on a computer graphics technique called volume rendering. The technique provides three-dimensional depth when displaying computed tomography and magnetic resonance imaging data. After receiving his doctorate, Levoy spent a year as a research assistant professor in UNC's computer science department before joining the Stanford faculty in 1990.

His more recent research achievements have included co-designing the Google book scanner and launching Google's Street View project. Levoy's current interests include light fields, optical microscopy and the emerging field of computational photography.

Levoy's national research grants in computational photography date to a 2002 National Science Foundation project, "High-Performance Imaging Using an Array of Low-Cost Cameras." Today, Levoy and faculty colleagues share their ongoing research with other universities through a Stanford "Frankencamera" project.

For his research accomplishments, Levoy was named a 1991 National Science Foundation Presidential Young Investigator and won the Association for Computing Machinery SIGGRAPH Computer Graphics Achievement Award in 1996. The association also named him a fellow in 2007.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER AND HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Michael R. Bloomberg

DOCTOR OF LAWS

MICHAEL BLOOMBERG is the 108th mayor of the City of New York. He was first elected mayor in 2001, just two months after the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center. At the time, many feared that crime would overtake New York, businesses would flee and the city would never recover. Instead, through hundreds of innovative new policies and initiatives, Bloomberg is credited with making New York City safer, stronger and greener than ever. He attended Johns Hopkins University, where he paid his tuition with student loans and income from working as a parking lot attendant. After college, he earned an MBA from Harvard Business School. Bloomberg began his career in an entry-level position with Salomon Brothers, a prominent Wall Street investment bank. He quickly rose through the ranks, eventually heading up the firm's information systems. When Salomon was acquired in 1981 and he was let go, he used his experience there to envision an information company that would use emerging technology to bring transparency and efficiency to buyers and sellers of financial securities. The result is Bloomberg LP, a company that has about 15,000 employees worldwide and more than 300,000 subscribers to its global financial news and information service. As his company grew, Bloomberg began to direct more of his attention to philanthropy, donating time and resources to many worthy causes, especially Johns Hopkins University, where he has helped build the Bloomberg School of Public Health into a leading institution of public health research and training. Bloomberg's extraordinary career in business, philanthropy and public service has few parallels in the opening decades of the 21st century. Mayor Bloomberg has delivered commencement or baccalaureate addresses for Tufts University, Bard College, the University of Pennsylvania and Princeton University, and has received honorary doctorates from Fordham University and George Washington University.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

David S. Ferriero

DOCTOR OF LAWS

DAVID FERRIERO is the 10th archivist of the United States and the first professional librarian to hold that position. As archivist, he is charged with preserving the nation's official permanent records, now estimated at about 9 billion pages of text, not to mention many millions of maps, charts, drawings, photographs, digital data sets, films and videos. Ferriero has championed transparency and openness in government, leading the effort to review and declassify appropriate records more efficiently. He has also been a leader in responding to the challenges presented by fragile and easily mutable digital records. Before accepting the position of archivist in 2009, Ferriero served as the Andrew W. Mellon director of the New York Public Libraries, an institution he characterized as the "mother ship" of the library world. There, he integrated the four research libraries and 87 branch libraries into one seamless service for users, creating the largest public library system in the United States and one of the largest research libraries in the world. Ferriero began his career shelving books at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Library, where he remained for 31 years, rising to the position of acting co-director of libraries. In 1996 he was recruited to Duke University by then-president Nannerl Keohane. As university librarian and vice provost for library affairs, he headed up Duke's instructional technology initiatives and raised more than $50 million to expand and renovate Perkins Library. While at Duke, Ferriero chaired the advisory board for North Carolina ECHO (Exploring Cultural Heritage Online), a project sponsored by the State Library of North Carolina. This initiative brings the treasures of the state's museums, libraries, archives and historic sites to the wider public using digital technologies. Ferriero holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Northeastern University and a master's degree from the Simmons College Graduate School of Library and Information Science, and served in the Navy during the Vietnam War. Although he now resides in Washington, D.C., Ferriero maintains close ties with North Carolina, returning home to Durham where his wife, Gail Zimmermann, is associate general manager of UNC-TV.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Thomas Willis Lambeth

DOCTOR OF LAWS

TOM LAMBETH is a senior fellow and retired executive director of the Z. Smith Reynolds foundation of Winston-Salem, N.C. A native Tar Heel whose North Carolina roots go back three centuries, Lambeth was educated in the public schools and received his B.A. degree in history from Carolina in 1957. His leadership qualities were recognized almost at once, as he was inducted into three of Carolina's student honorary societies — the Order of the Golden Fleece, the Order of the Grail and the Order of the Old Well. After a tour of active duty in the United States Army, he served as Governor Terry Sanford's chief administrative assistant, being at the time the youngest person in the nation to hold such a position. Later, he served as administrative assistant to U.S. Representative Richardson Preyer. Lambeth capped his career with 23 years of service as executive director of the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation. During that time, his work took him to every county in North Carolina and entailed directing more than $260 million in grants to nonprofit organizations. He also found time to serve on Carolina's Board of Trustees, chairing it for two years, and an amazing host of other boards and commissions, such as the Ruth Z. Fleishman Foundation, the Council on Foundations, the National Center for Family Philanthropy, and the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Lambeth's many honors include Carolina's Distinguished Alumnus Award, the General Alumni Association's Distinguished Service Medal, the Board of Trustees' William Richardson Davie Award, the UNC Board of Governors' University Award, and honorary degrees from Wake Forest University and Pfeiffer University. The Thomas Willis Lambeth Distinguished Professorship and the Lambeth Lecture in Public Policy at Carolina were both established in his honor. In retirement, Lambeth continues to serve North Carolina as a member of the board of the North Carolina chapter of the Environmental Defense Fund, the Hunt Institute for Educational Leadership and Carolina's School of Social Work, as well as the board of advisors of the UNC Center for Civil Rights.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Branford Marsalis

DOCTOR OF MUSIC

BRANFORD MARSALIS is a world-renowned saxophonist whose musical curiosity leads him to actively explore jazz, classical, blues and funk. A native of New Orleans, Marsalis is a member of one of that city's most distinguished musical families, which includes his father Ellis and his siblings Wynton, Delfeayo and Jason. In 2011, the Marsalis family was honored with the National Endowment for the Arts Jazz Masters award. Known for his innovative spirit and broad musical scope, Marsalis is equally at home on the stages of the world's greatest clubs and concert halls. He has been a featured soloist performing works by Copland, Debussy, Glazunov, Ibert, Mahler, Mihaud, Rorem and Vaughan Williams with major symphony orchestras such as the New York Philharmonic, Chicago, Detroit, Düsseldorf, Australian and North Carolina symphonies. He also toured for several months with the Philharmonia Brasileira. Marsalis, a three-time Grammy recipient, is a keeper of the history of American jazz, having played with such greats as Art Blakey, Dizzy Gillespie, Miles Davis, Herbie Hancock and Sonny Rollins. He is also a keen scout for new musical talent and has his own label, Marsalis Music, where he continues to discover, develop and promote new artists. Marsalis has held faculty positions at Michigan State University, San Francisco State University and currently at North Carolina Central University, where the members of his quartet serve as artists-in-residence. In addition to this traditional role, Marsalis engages in innovative and wide-reaching educational efforts with Marsalis Jams. This program fosters interactive education between professional musicians and students by coordinating campus visits and "jam sessions" by leading jazz ensembles at universities and high schools across America. Marsalis is also a humanitarian, After Hurricane Katrina's destruction of New Orleans, he and Harry Connick Jr. conceived of the New Orleans Habitat Musicians' Village in the hard-hit Ninth Ward, built as a project of the New Orleans Area Habitat for Humanity. The centerpiece of this effort is the Ellis Marsalis Center for Music.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Katharine Lee Reid

DOCTOR OF FINE ARTS

KATHARINE LEE REID has had a 40-year career as an art museum curator, administrator and director. At a time when few women held leadership positions in large museums, Reid served as assistant and later deputy director of the Art Institute of Chicago (1982–1991), director of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts (1991–2000) and director of the Cleveland Museum of Art (2000–2005). She transformed each of these institutions by balancing scholarly concerns with community and audience interests. Reid focused on eliminating barriers that people of all kinds felt about their experiences in art museums by means of well-written labels, meaningful gallery installations, guided and audio tours, computer access and major architectural revisions. She has been especially effective in reaching underserved audiences. The key to her success is her ability to understand how audiences respond to, enjoy and learn from works of art. Through her positions with the Association of Art Museum Directors, she has been a thoughtful leader in policy development, in promoting goals of diversity, and in responding to changing norms that influence and inform museum practice. She has guided the practices of museums with respect to the ethical collecting of archaeological materials, leading to a presidential appointment to the U.S. Department of State's Cultural Property Advisory Committee. Her goal in this work is to develop a more flexible attitude in the art museum world toward the cultural treasures of other countries by focusing on exhibition rather than possession. In her work with The Getty Trust Museum Leadership Institute, she participated in developing and mentoring hundreds of senior museum professionals, and as a member of the Accreditation Commission of the American Association of Museums, she has encouraged best practices in a full range of museum activities. Today, Reid continues to be a generous and wise mentor, serving on the national advisory board of the Ackland Art Museum, the visiting committee for the Frances Lehman Loeb Art Center at Vassar, and the board of advisors for the Nasher Art Museum at Duke University. Reid's honors include an honorary degree from Knox College and membership in the Ordre des Arts et des Lettres de la Republique Française.

COMMENCEMENT SYMBOLS AND TRADITIONS

THE CHANCELLOR'S MEDAL

The chancellor's medal, an emblem of the office of chancellor, is worn during the University's ceremonial occasions. The sterling silver disk, which is three inches in diameter and seven ounces Troy weight, was given to the University by John Sanders, professor emeritus and former director of the UNC Institute of Government, and his wife, Ann Beal Sanders. Modeled by sculptor Pete Hinton and bearing the University seal, it was first worn by Chancellor Paul Hardin during the 1994 University Day convocation.

THE BICENTENNIAL STAFF

The faculty marshal carries the bicentennial staff while leading the faculty processional on ceremonial occasions such as Commencement and University Day. The staff, commissioned for the University's 1993 bicentennial celebration by John Sanders, professor emeritus and former director of the UNC Institute of Government, and his wife, Ann Beal Sanders, was modeled by sculptor Pete Hinton. It consists of a sterling silver three-inch-high replica of the Old Well mounted on a turned and tapered oak shaft. The shaft was made from timber salvaged from the 1822 section of Old West residence hall during its 1991–1993 renovation.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

The University seal typically appears on diplomas and graduation materials, grade transcripts and documents that indicate accomplishment in or on behalf of the University.

The first seal of the University of North Carolina, designed in 1790, showed the face of Apollo and his emblem, the rising sun, used to symbolize the dawn of higher education in the state. The words "SIGUL UNIVERSITAT CAROL SEPTENT" (Seal of the University of North Carolina) surrounded the drawing.

A modification in 1895 added lighted torches of learning beside Apollo's profile. Two years later another alteration replaced Apollo's head with a shield on which the words Lux (light) and Libertas (liberty), separated by a white band running from the upper right to the lower left of the shield, appeared.

In the 1940s, some observers mistakenly claimed the white stripe on the shield was a bend sinister, a heraldic code that was demeaning. In truth, the stripe was a bar sinister and merely denoted a second or later son. Still, the direction of the stripe was reversed, removing any question of stigma.

Today's seal is the same as the 1897 version, except the stripe runs from the upper left to the lower right.

UNIVERSITY COLORS

As symbols of unity among Carolina students, alumni and fans, the school colors of light blue and white were first used around 1800 to distinguish between members of the Dialectic and Philanthropic Literary Societies. Throughout the 19th century, students were required to be members of either the Di or the Phi. The Di's color was light blue, and the Phi's was white.

At University commencements, balls and other social events, the student officials, managers and marshals wore the color of their society, blue or white. Because the chief marshal or chief ball manager represented the whole student body, not just his society, he wore both colors.

When the University fielded its first intercollegiate athletic teams in 1888, the question of what colors to wear had already been answered. Light blue and white had come to symbolize membership in the University, not in a single society.

ACADEMIC DRESS

The following information, based in part on An Academic Costume Code and Ceremony Guide (published by the American Council on Education), may be helpful in identifying academic attire worn during UNC's Commencement exercises.

DEGREE CANDIDATES' REGALIA. The University's bachelor's gown was redesigned in 2011 by award-winning colorist and fashion designer Alexander Julian — a Chapel Hill native and UNC alumnus — to be both Carolina blue and truly green, as in sustainably made. The fabric for the new True Blue gown is made from 100 percent post-consumer recycled plastic bottles (23 bottles for each gown) and is manufactured at mills in the Carolinas. The information about the gown's sustainability is suitably printed directly on the cloth, without the use of an extra label. In addition to being dyed a custom Carolina blue color, the True Blue gowns also have a more streamlined fit, white piping along the yoke and two white panels in front. The new tassels are blue and white, topped with a silver-colored Old Well medallion. An optional accessory is an embroidered white stole that the graduate may give to a parent in gratitude after the Commencement ceremony.

The untrimmed, black master's gown has a hood and an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist, that hangs nearly to the ground; the back part of its oblong shape is square cut and the arc in the front is cut away. The hooded doctoral gown features three bars across each sleeve. In 1999, the Faculty Council authorized a special doctoral gown for Carolina graduates. It is Carolina blue, with facings and crossbars of dark blue outlined in white piping. The facings bear the shield of the University supported by the torches of learning.

The hoods of master's and doctoral degree candidates vary in color according to the field of study (see list below).

This Commencement weekend, some students will be wearing special cords. Gold cords will be worn by Honors graduates, and blue and white cords will be worn by Public Service Scholars.

FACULTY REGALIA. Faculty wear the regalia of the institution that conferred their highest degree. The doctoral gowns are usually faced with black velvet, although the color of the velvet may vary according to the field of study. Hoods, which differ in length according to the level of the degree held, are lined with official colors of the university or college that conferred the degree, usually with one color forming a chevron pattern over the other. Some colors you will see on faculty and administrators' robes are, for example, the crimson of Harvard, the maroon of Chicago, the orange and black of Princeton, the dark blue of Yale, and the light blue and white of North Carolina.

Like the hoods of master's and doctoral degree candidates, faculty hoods are edged and bound with velvet in the color appropriate to the field of study. The colors in the hoods and gowns of faculty and administrators represent the following fields in which degrees were taken:

APRICOT: Nursing
BROWN: Fine Arts
CITRON: Social Work
CRIMSON: Journalism
DARK BLUE: Philosophy
GOLDEN YELLOW: Science
GREEN: Medicine
LEMON YELLOW: Library Science
LIGHT BLUE: Education
LILAC: Dentistry
OLIVE GREEN: Pharmacy
ORANGE: Engineering
PEACOCK BLUE: Public Administration
PINK: Music
PURPLE: Law
SAGE GREEN: Physical Education
SALMON PINK: Public Health
SCARLET: Theology
YELLOW BROWN: Commerce, Business, Accountancy
WHITE: Arts, Letters, Humanities

CONFERRING OF THE HOOD, TURNING OF THE TASSEL

At a certain point in a Commencement ceremony, a gesture or action symbolically indicates that the degree has been conferred. For doctoral degree candidates, that symbolic action is called the "hooding." During Saturday's Hooding ceremony, doctoral degree candidates will be conferred with a hood by the provost and either their advisor or dissertation committee chair. For undergraduates, the gesture is the turning of the tassel. At the beginning of the main Commencement ceremony on Sunday, undergraduate degree candidates will wear their tassels on the right side of the mortarboard (cap). Then, at the moment when their degrees are awarded, they will move them to the left side. Upon turning the tassel or being hooded, a student transitions from degree candidate to graduate.

MUSIC

Graduates, families and friends attending Commencement weekend will have several opportunities to hear the University's beloved "Hark the Sound" and James Taylor's classic "Carolina in My Mind." These songs evoke the feelings of loyalty and friendship that students, alumni and true blue Tar Heels everywhere have for the University. But the orchestral marches that accompany the commencement processionals are equally memorable for their power and splendor. They are truly fitting musical celebrations of the talent and achievements of UNC–Chapel Hill's visiting dignitaries, faculty and graduates.

During Saturday's Doctoral Hooding ceremony and Sunday's main Commencement ceremony, members of the academic processional will be welcomed by the fanfare brass, woodwinds and drums of Nikolai Rimsky-Korsakov's "Procession of the Nobles" and Richard Strauss' "Königsmarsch." Rimsky-Korsakov wrote his majestic march to open the second act of the opera-ballet "Mlada," which premiered in Saint Petersburg, Russia, in 1892. Strauss premiered the flourishing "Königsmarsch" at a palace concert in Berlin in 1907.

The new graduates will exit the ceremonies while hearing familiar Carolina melodies in "Tar Heel Rhapsody," a composition written specifically for the University that features its school songs.

THE FIRST CAROLINA DIPLOMA

In September 1796 Carolina student Davie Gillespie began working with a group of men to determine the Southern boundary of the United States. His instructors gave Gillespie a document to carry as proof that he had been a student at the University of North Carolina. The document, now in the Library of Congress, was signed by his professors and ended with the statement, "We thought it proper to give him this certificate."

The University's first graduating class in 1798 included Hinton James, the first student to enroll. Seven men received the first documents that by today's standards can be called UNC–Chapel Hill diplomas. One of the original diplomas is in the Southern Historical Collection in Wilson Library.

During the University's early years, commencement at Carolina was a time for examinations and promotions to higher classes. There was a commencement, but no degrees awarded and no graduation.

THE BELL TOWER

The Morehead–Patterson Memorial Bell Tower was given to the University in 1931 by John Motley Morehead III and Rufus Lenoir Patterson. Its 14-bell carillon rings both manually and electronically to call students to class, provide twilight music and serenade the dispersing crowd after football games. Rising 172 feet, the tower is surrounded by a hedge and lawn designed by William C. Coker, botany professor and creator of the campus Arboretum.

THE OLD WELL

At the heart of the campus stands the visual symbol of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. For many years the Old Well served as the sole water supply for Old East and Old West dormitories. In 1897, the well was given its present decorative form at the direction of President Edwin A. Alderman, who described his beautification project as largely derived from the Temple of Love in the Garden of Versailles. In 1954, the well was given added beauty with brick walks, plantings and benches. Students can bring good luck with a drink from the Old Well on the first day of classes.

DEGREES WITH DISTINCTION

To graduate with distinction or with highest distinction, undergraduate students must have completed at least 45 academic hours at UNC–Chapel Hill and have an overall grade point average of at least 3.5 or 3.8, respectively.

UNDERGRADUATE HONORS PROGRAM

The Honors Program offers exceptionally well-qualified first-year students, sophomores and juniors an opportunity to take part of their general education curriculum in special honors seminars and honors sections. Honors seminars are special topics courses, limited in enrollment to 15 students and taught by outstanding members of the University faculty. Honors sections of regular departmental course offerings are also limited in enrollment and are taught by permanent members of the University faculty. Honors seminars and sections emphasize critical reading, class discussion and expository writing.

Senior departmental honors programs are provided for students who have demonstrated a very high level of scholastic ability and achievement and who desire to pursue an intensive, individualized program of study in their major discipline. Honors studies ordinarily consist of one or more of the following: the preparation of an honors thesis or essay, an independent research or reading program, an artistic performance or exhibition, or the completion of advanced course work in the major not normally required of students in that major. It is on the basis of participation in senior honors that a student may be graduated from the University "with Honors" or "with Highest Honors."
